Guarantee. While we guarantee all stock to be of the variety specified, and to arrive in good condition, and hold ourselves in readiness, on proper proof, to replace free of charge all that may prove untrue to label, or refund the money paid, it is mutually understood and agreed between the purchaser and ourselves that our guarantee of genuineness shall in no case make us liable for any sum greater than that originally received for said bulbs or other merchandise which may prove untrue.

Prices. Bulbs are sent postpaid to points as far east as the Rocky Mountains. For greater distances, add 10 per cent. Orders from California points, add 3 per cent State Sales Tax.

Varieties. It is impossible to list all available sorts. Write for prices on others with which you may be familiar.

Many of the varieties are novelties and limited in supply. Early orders will insure delivery. Substitutions will be made if we are sold out of the variety ordered, unless you specify "no substitutions."

Flowering Periods. Throughout the Catalog, figures show the relative flowering periods under normal conditions; the earliest designated as "1."

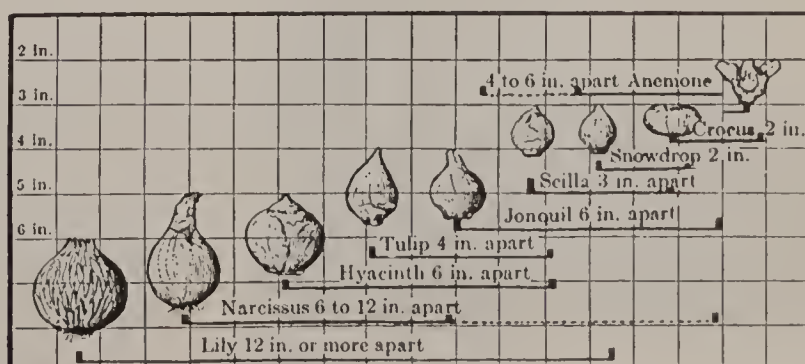

Begonia, Camellia-flowered

The chart below shows the desirable depths and spacing under average conditions for the familiar garden bulbs. This is a safe planting-guide for the average amateur but should be varied according to special soil or temperature or where actual experience has convinced the planter otherwise.

As an example, for California conditions, particularly in warmer climatic sections, we recommend planting much deeper. Where ideal soil and drainage prevail, our experience has taught us that Tulips will produce the finest results if covered with 6 inches of soil.

Many of our garden lilies require deeper planting than the 6 inches specified here. We state the recommended depths in our lily listing.

Do not plant too early in California. For general conditions, we recommend the planting of Tulips, Narcissi, and most other fall bulbs during October, November, and early December. Where the stock has been properly stored in a cool, dry place, we find they succeed very well planted even as late as early January. This is not generally recommended, however.

Begonia, Rosebud Type

Tuberous-Rooted Begonias

Tuberous Begonias are of simple culture, and they fill a long-felt need for plants suitable in shady spots. Given the proper conditions, the results generally are beyond expectations. For location, guard against mid-day burning sun and drafts, and provide a maximum of light and fresh air. For soil, provide a loose, friable condition—ample humus.

These shade-loving plants are one of our specialties. We use the finest of hybridized seed and grow our plants in open fields to produce the hardiest tubers.

The size and quality of the flowers are dependent on the strain of seed used in their propagation and the care you give to them. The size of the tubers and our care in the production fields determine the size of the resultant plants in your garden; jumbo size tubers develop the largest, most free-flowering plants with earliest blossoms; the smaller, bedding size tubers will produce just as fine individual flowers.

Hollyhock Begonia

(Begonia martiana grandiflora)

A tall, mostly unbranching plant, the growth being characteristic of its name. Grows to a height of 18 to 24 inches, with delightful, single, soft pink blossoms borne in the leaf-axils. Use for background planting in the Begonia bed or for pot-plants. Bulbs 50c each; $5.00 per doz.; $35.00 per 100.

HARDY LILIES

Please send Lily orders promptly

Lily bulbs are ready during the fall and early winter, and should be planted as soon as possible. If you will send us your order in advance, we will deliver the stock as soon as it is dug, cured, and ready.

Spring planting is satisfactory if the bulbs have been kept in good condition. If you are revamping your Lily-beds in the spring, tell us—we may be able to furnish your requirements at that time.

It is important to plant Lily bulbs at their proper depth as we specify in the descriptions.

Good drainage is necessary. The Lily-bed should be prepared to a depth of about 2 feet, providing a loose, friable mixture of loam, gravel, sand, and leafmold, with a bottom of stones and rocks.

DUTCH HYACINTHS

We would like your Hyacinth orders
before September 1

The strongest, richest effect will be achieved with the planting of top-size bulbs. However, our bedding size is a liberal one for this purpose and will produce flowers of exceptional grace and strength.

We urge the planting of Miniature Hyacinths for the garden. The flower-spikes are of good size and the characteristics of color, fragrance, and size of bells are identical to top-size blossoms, but the spike is more graceful; not so compact. Use Miniature Hyacinths for massive border effects; they are so much more economical.

Special Hyacinth Imports

The following special Hyacinths must be ordered before September 1 for special importation:

DOUBLE HYACINTHS.

Chestnutflower. Pink.

For years, we have had the reputation of having unusual plant material not generally found at nurseries. In the sales-yard of our Home Nursery, you will find many things for which you are searching. Pay us a visit.

Our representatives are specialists in their particular activities. Their experience with the designing of many gardens and training with respect to style in the garden have made available to you a service which you will find economical and will save you costly mistakes.

One record Apple tree, from which we select budwood for propagation, produced an average of 3400 pounds annually for five years

FRUIT TREE PEDIGREE IS IMPORTANT

Budwood for our fruit trees is all carefully selected by our organization, from the strongest and most prolific trees in the best orchards of our state. This is important in perpetuating types that are shapely and uniform with the desired coloration—trees that are regular and heavy producers. The trees we supply on your order will not only be clean and vigorous and true to name but will be from the best yielding and most profitable types.

Trees having poor, inferior root-systems are carefully culled at digging-time, and you may depend on receiving for your order first-class stock with strong root-system properly graded into its respective size.

These fruit tree prices are subject to revision during the season. Commercial planters inquire for special prices. Prices, except where noted:

	1 to 9 trees	10 to 49 trees	50 to 299 trees

16 hills after 12 years of hill selection from one of our northern Potato fields—Note uniformity

SEED POTATOES

Our Mr. H. A. Hyde was reared in the Potato section of Aroostook County, Maine, and for over a quarter century we have worked with Seed Potatoes on the Pacific Coast. In 1927 our efforts were rewarded when our seed produced a yield of 675 sacks in the Stockton Delta, taking the world's record away from the European countries.

We annually ship many carloads from our northwestern growing fields to all parts of the West. Our seed has found favor in Russia, England, Honolulu, and other foreign markets. The Colma and Monterey early sections of California still ask for "Hyde's Garnets." Our Low-Top Burbanks produce the world-famed "Salinas Burbank" and are used in Nevada, the Stockton Delta, and other sections. Some of the earliest and best "Shafter crops" have been from "Hyde Selected Wisconsin." We offer selected strains for the following varieties—a sack or a carload. Look for Hyde's Branded bag. Write for prices.

Garnet Chili. The best early red Potato. Our seed has been built up by tuber indexing.

Hyde's Low-Top Burbank. World record strain. A good producer if you have real Potato land. One of the best winter keepers.

British Queen. A good yielder, but of poor quality.

Netted Gem (Idaho Russett). Needs no description.

Wisconsin (White Rose). The Potato that has made Shafter famous. We have a superior strain and annually grow many carloads.

STRAWBERRIES

For years the name "HYDE COMPANY" has been associated with Strawberry plants. We have developed and introduced many of the standard varieties and have studied their adaptation to the different conditions of soil, climate, etc., observing closely the quality of fruit from the standpoint of flavor and shipping qualities.

Every family should have its own garden and berry-patch. We are qualified to advise both for home and commercial planting, and offer you the best grade in standard and new varieties.

In California, 100 plants should give enough fruit throughout the entire season, if well cared for, to supply the average family. Ask us for a dozen or for a hundred thousand.

All Strawberries, except where noted, 25c per doz.; $1.75 per 100; $3.50 for 250

XX Banner. Our XX Banner is an improvement over the original Banner variety which we introduced in 1899. Our original stock still holds the world's record for production of 35,000 pounds per acre. There is no better berry—rich, dark glossy red, of delicious flavor and a good keeper. Suitable for garden or the commercial field.

Hyde Double Nick. A built-up strain of the Nick Ohmer which we introduced to the west years ago. One of the best commercial money-makers. A heavy cropper of large, shiny berries of remarkable keeping quality. The best variety for eastern and long-distance shipping.

New Oregon Improved. Large, deep red of finest flavor. Thrives best in dark, rich loam.

Marshall. A standby for both coast and interior sections. Healthy foliage and long-lived.

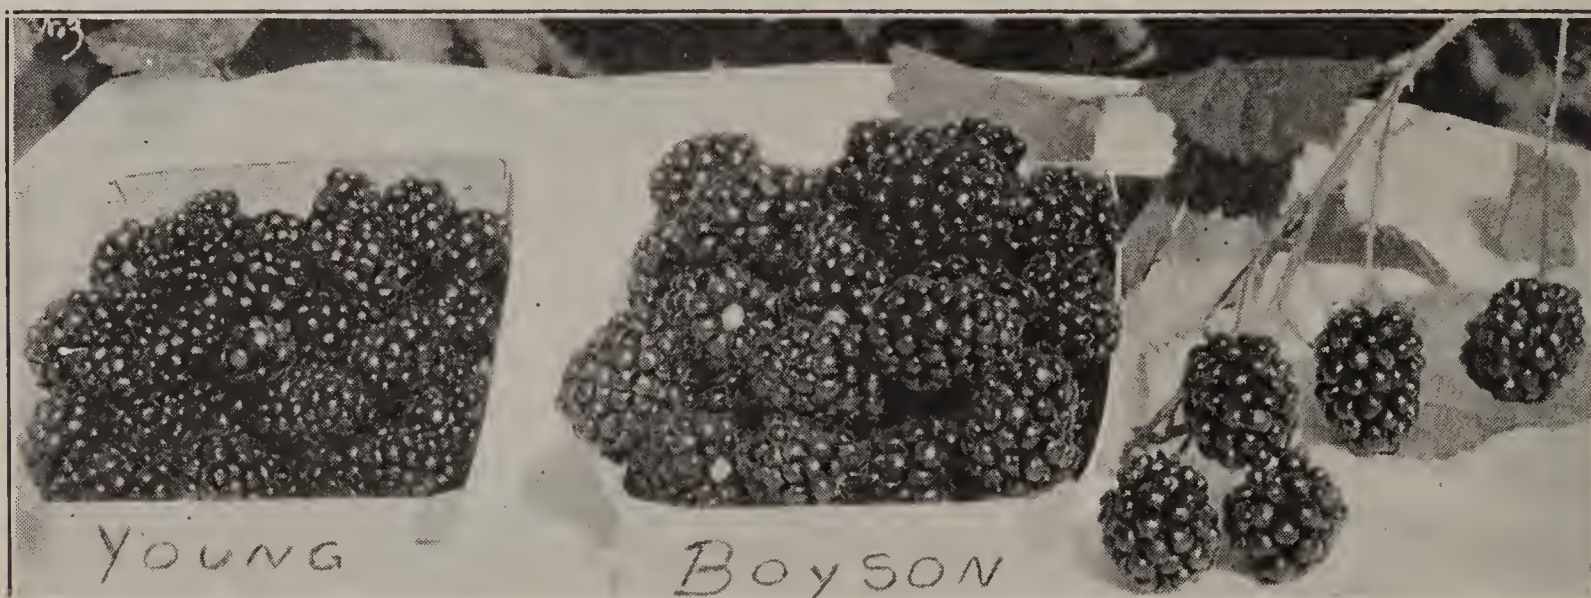

Red Heart. A splendid new variety, especially good for canning or market.

Oregon Plum. Our introduction to Mr. Tatsiguchi at Florin in 1895. We have the original strain. Is similar to New Oregon but better suited to warmer districts.

Progressive Improved. With the exception of the coast sections, this is, perhaps, the most consistently ever-bearing variety. The Banner and Magoon are longer croppers on the coast. 60c per doz.; $3.75 per 100.

Dorsett. A newer variety of promise, both for home and field planting. Extremely healthy and long-lived foliage of strong vigor and "well set-up." Berries large, of good color and plentiful. A heavy bearer and good money-maker; better than the Fairfax for dry conditions.

Mastodon. A monstrous berry of good flavor and color. A late bearer.

BUSHBERRIES

BLACKBERRY

Mammoth Early and productive.

Himalaya. Strong grower. Late. Unexcelled for jellies.

Macatawa. Early. Bush type with few seeds and small core. Of excellent quality.

Cory Thornless. Very large with a wild berry flavor.

Loganberry. Dark red, rich, juicy, and tart. Fine for jams, pies, etc.

Youngberry. Large, juicy, and black with few seeds. Of exceptional flavor.

All above varieties, strong plants, 15c each; $1.50 per doz.; $10.00 per 100

Boysenberry. All of the good qualities of the Youngberry, but larger and more prolific. 20c each; $2.00 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

Thornless Youngberry. Identical with Youngberry but thornless. A good bearer and easy to handle. 20c each; $2.00 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

Thornless Loganberry. Identical with our standard Loganberry but thorns are absent. 20c each; $2.00 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

Hyde's Improved Phenomenal Berry. The true Phenomenal is a wonderful berry, larger than the Logan, brighter red, sweeter and richer, with a distinct raspberry flavor. Many people have never tasted this berry as Logan plants have often been substituted. We have an improved strain of the true stock. 25c each; $2.00 per doz.; $15.00 per 100.

Mammoth Blackberry. 15c each
